Meanwhile, back in the States, the Planmeca Recorder (or Planmeca Deluxe) is now available to preorder. It's an all-in-one tool for scanning, printing and copying. Check out this prototype video for a quick demo of its capabilities. However, it's notable that Planmeca isn't advertising the tool as an alternative to an actual color copier or scanner. CEO Kaj Backholm sees the Recorder as a nice add-on to a color copier like the Dazzle 37, for those who just want to use a tool that's elegant, out of the way, and that's not an actual scanner. It's compatible with both Windows and Mac OS and can produce high-quality color copies (it has a 20-page per second scan speed for A4/B5 sheets, 24-page per second speed for A3/A4/B5 sheets). The company says it's on the market for $149 (in Sweden) now; Americans will have to wait a bit longer for a U.S. launch date. Q: How can I use the "format" action to format individual cells in a listbox? I have a listbox that is populated based on an array of records. I can format all cells in the listbox using the "format" action, but I don't know how to target a specific cell. I tried using the index but it doesn't do what I need. I tried using the tab index and that works the same way. The column number I want to format is the first cell in the listbox. Sub FormatListbox() Call FormatListbox_1() End Sub Sub FormatListbox_1() With ActiveSheet.ListObjects("ListBox1") 82138339de
